

DAXTON SINCLAIR

Project Manager

- Daxton Sinclair, project manager for Jameson Creative Services, handles all aspects of marketing for dental offices. Along with his colleagues, Sinclair assists dental practices in all marketing decisions, designs and deliverables.
- From brainstorming sessions and budgeting to creative execution and distribution, Sinclair has clients' dental marketing needs in check. He understands that in today's dental world, marketing is an essential tool that isn't necessarily covered in dental training. Sinclair comes to offer help with the most crucial practice boosting plans. Ultimately, he sees this as an opportunity to help patients' to find the right dentist, while increasing dentists' case acceptance and contentment.

Sinclair grew up in Stillwater, Oklahoma and graduated from Oklahoma State University with a degree in marketing. He then traveled throughout the United States while working in the casino industry marketing a variety of brands and products for a company headquartered in Las Vegas. He gained experience in promotions and special events on a grand scale, mostly living in Louisiana.

He and his wife moved to Oklahoma in 2008, and Sinclair has enjoyed using his professional experiences to contribute to the meaningful Jameson efforts.
