

LESLIE NEVEU

RDH, BSDH
Jameson Coach

- Leslie Neveu, RDH, BSDH, began her dental career at the University of New Mexico where she graduated in 1984 with an associate degree in dental hygiene and continued on to get a bachelor's in dental hygiene in 1985 while working full time as a dental hygienist. While in school, she was a representative for the University of New Mexico's student chapter of the American Dental Hygiene Association. During college, she taught dental health at an Albuquerque High School for pregnant teens and teens with children, worked in Native American clinics, helped at clinics for the profoundly and severely handicapped and set up rural dental clinics in Cimarron, New Mexico. Soon after graduating, Neveu traveled and worked as a hygienist in Europe and made friends in the American Dental Hygienist community there. She also soon discovered that Americans were setting the standard of dental care worldwide. Upon returning to America, she found a job in her hometown, Santa Fe, New Mexico, and worked there for 11 years, "watching the little kids grow up and go to college with no fillings and loving their visits to the dentist. That was so rewarding! These were my golden years in hygiene because the staff, the doctor and the patients were all working toward a common goal, willing to try new things and incorporate new ideas."

More than five years ago, she moved to Denver where she has worked as a temporary dental hygienist, exposing her to many kinds of practices and people. She is a member of the Speaking and Consulting Network, the ADHA and the CDHA. Now that she has 20 years of dental hygiene experience, she sought employment with one of her favorite dental lecturers, Dr. Cathy Jameson. "Over the years, I have attended tons of continuing education and who hasn't heard of Cathy Jameson? If you've ever heard her speak, you remember it. I did," she said, "Now, it is wonderful to be part of an organization where the main concern is, like hygiene, people and helping them reach higher goals."

"I would like to personally acknowledge the extraordinary coaching done by Leslie Neveu. Her passion for dentistry combined with her clinical skills and consulting training has inspired me. Dentistry has become an overwhelming drudgery. My consultation goal was to improve my practice to make it profitable to sell. Neveu's inspiring, earnest presentation has reminded what I love about my profession before I let the little things overwhelm me. Thank you for sending her to me." —Lisbeth Randall, DDS
