

RYAN WEBBER

Associate Project Manager,
Jameson Creative Services

- Ryan Webber recently joined Jameson, serving as Creative Services Associate Project Manager. With his proven ability to work with people, lead teams and projects, develop new ideas and streamline systems, Webber is a huge asset to Jameson's growing and diversified Creative Services team and to the clients of Jameson Creative Services.

Currently, he is assisting the creative team with creative services projects and developing client relations, eventually to facilitate marketing action plans with clients to help them increase new patient numbers, increase brand awareness and to enhance a particular aspect of their practice.

Webber graduated from Oklahoma State University with a B.S. in Secondary Math Education. He has taught and coached for the Stillwater, Oklahoma educational system for nearly 13 years, teaching a spectrum of math courses and was ultimately responsible for developing and launching the a premiere volleyball program for Stillwater Public Schools. He has exerised excellent management, leadership and marketing skills. He has served regularly on communications and technology committees, assessing the methods of communications and the technology used to advance both student and teacher progress, serving as a liason for administration.

"Ryan displays a hard working and productive attitude that will serve both him, our clients and our entire organization very well." —Misty Absher Clark, vice president, Jameson Creative Services
