

Cindy Ishimoto CDPMA

JAMESON COACH AND SPEAKER

Cindy Ishimoto, CDPMA, began her career in the dental profession in 1973, first as an assistant and business auxiliary and then progressing to a management position. She continually updates her skills by attending practice management seminars, as well as clinical seminars. Ishimoto's love of people and dentistry enable her to share her enthusiasm and guide teams to building successful people-oriented practices.

She is known for her expertise in the business and financial management aspects of the practice and possesses outstanding perceptual abilities in identifying problem areas and teaching solutions. After consulting and training for 25 years, Ishimoto has experience working with general practitioners and all specialties. Her personal philosophy is a perfect match with the Jameson Method of Dental Practice Management because both believe in tailoring the consulting process to the specific team's goals and dreams. For this reason and many others, Ishimoto was selected to join the Jameson Management consulting team. She will continue consulting, lecturing and writing in Hawaii, where she is a reputable consultant now, but has broadened her scope of involvement for Jameson clients in the United States, United Kingdom and beyond.

Ishimoto lectures for leading conferences and dental societies and is a member of the Academy of Dental Management Consultants and National Speakers Association.

"I have taken tons of CE courses, watched hours of dental videos and even hired other consultants, but nothing compares to the changes that Cindy was able to make in my practice."
